The 125th anniversary of our institution and we have all approached this momentous occasion with hearts full of gratitude to God for His bountiful blessings. We hope this anniversary year with a Thanksgiving service and rededicated ourselves to His service.

As I look at our hospital, I see a vibrant organization, not wanting to rest on the laurels of the past. It is a growing organization and to its steady growth and more people with its pure ideals of service and love. We face the challenges of the future, I realize that it is a journey that is just begun. And so, this 125th anniversary of our institution approaches the years ahead with optimism and faith, secure in the knowledge that with God’s continued guidance, the future of our winners is secure.
